For 13 years of my 28 years in the MFB I was stationed at Tullamarine. For most of that time we attended calls with a volunteer CFA crew servicing Greenvale. I found them to be passionate about their community's safety. However over the years saw the area become highly populated and the number of calls for assistance also grew and local CFA crews struggled to service this community. A number our calls to Greenvale we would attend without timely support. Also one of the most significant advancements the MFB made was to start emergency medical response operations. I believe we need to roll out full time fire and medical response capabilities as the need and population requires. I believe the Victorian would agree given all the facts.
