Minister, I am not sure if you have got oversight, or perhaps this is for the Secretary. How many councils accessed the Working for Victoria Fund, and any details around how many councils used it or are still using it? And then also how many people are actually employed by councils through Working for Victoria?

Answer:

Working for Victoria has employed 5,450 people in councils across Victoria.

A total of 71 councils received a grant through Working for Victoria, with this funding supporting employment in councils across Victoria.

Of those 71 councils, three have now completed their funded projects while the remaining 68 are continuing to deliver funded projects and employ people under this program.
