

QUESTION ON NOTICE

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY ECONOMY AND INFRASTRUCTURE COMMITTEE

Inquiry into Workplace Surveillance

East Melbourne – Thursday 26 September 2024

Anthony CIANFLONE: I am just curious to know – we have heard some amazing evidence from quite a few witnesses – what is Ai Group’s view around the opportunity for artificial intelligence, AI, and even neurotechnology to potentially be rolled out into the workforce in the coming years?

Australian Industry Group taken on notice response

Ai Group’s view is that artificial intelligence and neurotechnology can increasingly provide substantial benefits for workers, businesses, and the community, particularly in relation to new capacities for the identification and control of risks to health and safety. We refer the Committee to paragraphs 13-22 of our submission which provides examples of what is currently being used by members and their workers.
