Question:

So for context, last year we asked whether the government was actually anywhere near its Target One Million. I am a little bit sceptical; PAEC was told last year that it would be available in October 2019 and we still have not got it. Perhaps, Minister, if I can ask you to take it on notice to provide an explanation to the committee as to why that information is not available. Are you happy to do that?

Answer:

Thank you for your question about recreational fishing participation in Victoria.

The Andrews Labor Government is supporting recreational fishing throughout the state and understands its importance to the Victorian economy. By increasing fish stocking, restoring the health of our waterways by ending commercial netting in Port Phillip Bay and Gippsland Lakes or through programs such as Golden Tag, we are encouraging more Victorians to get out fishing more often.

In Victoria, there are several groups such as those under 18, those over 70, or those that identify as Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders, who are not required to purchase a licence. Therefore, licence sales are not a true indicator of total recreational fishing participation and must be analysed against quantitative research to capture a more accurate figure.

This work is currently being undertaken by the Victorian Fisheries Authority (VFA).
