Submission:

The locations of the Hazelwood and, in future, the Yallourn Power Stations must be preserved as power station sites. The existing land assets, water supply and power grid connections make them ideal locations for gas and/or nuclear power stations when the reality of future reliable power supply not coming from the wind or the Sun strikes home with the populace and the politicians. Eventually, the Loy Yang Power Station site may also be converted to a nuclear power station. All of this would mean the Latrobe Valley will live on. Otherwise it will become a blight on the entire country.
