

Sir,

As a motorcycle rider since 1968, I believe the introduction of wire barriers is fundamental encroachment of motorcycle rider safety. Just need a pothole, stray Wombat or Kangaroo to send a motorcycle off the side of the road. If the motorcyclist survives the fall the wire barrier is the executioner.

All the rubbish I read from VicRoads does nothing to instil my confidence in our states roads safety. VicRoads goes on about motorcycle safety. How would they know as none of them ride motorcycles?

VicRoads and Government need to SPEAK AND LISTEN to those who ride and get first hand life saving comment and advice. I certainly don't want to die early and my riding in the country areas, especially up Warbuton way is now an uncomfortable and edgy ride at best.

I recently applied to be on the Road Safety committee. Upon social discussion I realise why I didn't even get to the interview stage. All the ones in the running are stacked and part of a motorcycle group. No more said.

Regards
