YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

Access to kindergarten for rural children is sometimes only available if they travel to and from kindergarten by school bus. This allows them to participate in the kindergarten program usually for 2 days a week which prepares them for attendance at school five days a week and having to catch the bus.

School buses (if capacity allows) should also be able to be accessed by young people who are trying to attend tertiary education but are unable due to having no transport. Particularly if there are buses moving between bigger communities and they have vacant spaces then it would be a great benefit to community members who are unable to access medical appointments, training, centrelink appointments etc.
