If this is allowed, it is blatantly obvious that with no safety cameras and no "vetting" of drivers, it is only a matter of time before a serious assault occurs. Sadly many assaults may never be reported or proved as many mentally impaired disabled people can not speak for themselves or understand what has happened to them. The government must be held accountable for any assaults that occur as they are the ones who propose to allow unregulated businesses to carry the disabled with little or no safeguards. We have recently seen how many undesirable drivers managed to slip through the system and be authorised to operate taxis due to a fault in the Police checking system, how on earth would they allow people with no Police checks to transport the vulnerable?
