YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

I'd like the government to build public and affordable housing on a massive scale to help address homelessness and risk of homelessness. Appropriate support services should also be established in proximity. Could you look at the economic and human dignity case for this?

Please also look at how governments could further ramp up tax and other disincentives for houses and apartments being left empty. Information about vacant property levels should be public.

Finally, please look into the effect of removing incentives like the first home buyers' grant and negative gearing that seem to only inflate property prices.

Thank you
