YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

Cannabis should only be available as an end of life treatment for pain (e.g. cancer). Otherwise, no it should not be legal. The USA is a terrible example of what can occur, teens/youth/adults smoking cannabis, culturally this is not what Australia needs to be. I would not vote for any politician who supported its widespread legalisation but I would vote for someone progressive enough to understand it might have some merit in a medical context and under supervision.

Do you have any additional comments or suggestions?:

great to see this kind of progressive thinking is occurring.
