YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

The understanding we have of the health and social effects of Cannabis are sufficient to prevent further understanding to be used as a reason to delay reforming the law.

Cannabis is a drug whose regulation in the community should be analogous to Alcohol.

Its negative effects should, like Alcohol, be balanced with education, harm minimisation services, and age restrictions.

It is not a class of drug that entitles a government to curtail the liberties of citizens to exercise choice in its use to the degree that currently exists.

Further, its prohibition provides money to criminal elements such that it is unclear to what degree our institutions are corroded and our decision makers and office holders are corrupted - money that could be used via taxes to fund education and harm minimisation services and other community goods.
