well it should be regulated like Tabacco and alcohol 21 is probably a better age than 18. It becomes a public health and safety issue when people become dependant and don't have other means of escape, it doesn't mean they're labelled a junkie or what no but they just need a hobby or some activity that doesn't create stress and instead create self worth and positive achievements in society so they can see how being a decent citizen can benefit them. In my opinion I believe it should be accessible just like alcohol and cigarettes but let's get it right instead of it creating problems and then we go back to blaming the drug of choice rather than the system that didn't do a great deal to begin with.

Do you have any additional comments or suggestions?:

I think to there's a perception of what the bad things are about cannabis but the people really need to be re-educated on how to use it responsibly and what its health effects are long term.
