We have a Liberal/National government that is manipulating figures and concentrating on dollars at any cost.

There needs to be a way to stop this government promoting it's own and it's business mates views of denying and covering up climate change. They have too much influence and are only accountable to the electorate at election time. We the consumers are just pawns.

They know how to use the system. They know how to manipulate statistics and accept and promote data that suits their agenda.

There needs to be an independent and unbiased federal climate commission that is not accountable or able to be threatened overtly or covertly by the government. It must over rule both state and federal governments.
