Penalty Rates and
Fair Pay Select Committee
Submission No. 29
Received 18/07/2017

To whom this might concern,

I am a single mother that works very hard every day to make a living. I work in a retail store and fell very upset that the penalty rates are going to be cut.

Its hard enough these day to try and make a living and working after hours helps with the extra stress of trying to survive every week. You cutting these penalties will make it very hard to look after my kids and keep my house.

I try very hard to make a living and I didnt choose to be a single mum. I live week by week at the moment and if home loans go up and then you take away the penalty rates, I will loose my home and you will be putting me and my child in a car to sleep at night.

So please think about the low come earners which help many people out there with every day life, serving these customers. Without us you wouldnt be able to buy anything.

You people in the government dont have to worry as you are all on a good income and you dont worry about others.

So please help and dont change any other penalty rates.
