Dear Committee Members,

I am appalled that your committee would decide about the no job, no play or pay legislation without any public consultation. This is a serious matter that needs to be discussed with the major stakeholders: the people who elected you. I do not think that your constituents would readily give up their rights to choose whether or not to use any medical intervention. Your constituents may not fully understand what this legislation means or what it will lead to. Perhaps some of you on the Committee also aren't aware that this legislation is :

- discriminatory -: it is in breach of the Discrimination Disability Act 1992 which specifically protects children disabled by vaccination and whose guardians and doctors have decided cannot endure any more vaccines
- unconstitutional -: the Australian Constitution does not allow the Commonwealth to require a person to accept any medical or dental procedure
- illegal -: making vaccination a requirement to receive monetary assistance is a form of practical compulsion that is illegal because it makes "informed consent" meaningless
- unethical -: it is a violation of basic human-rights for a government to force a medical intervention on a person solely for the benefit of another

These are just a very few of the reasons why this bill needs to be discussed openly in public forums, not decided in secret because you have the power. Please think about these points before making a decision that will further divide your communities.

Sincerely yours,

Jennifer Power
