Subject: proposed vaccine legislation

Mandatory vaccination is not only morally and ethically wrong, it is a breach of human rights. Denying children access to education is outright unconstitutional.
Vaccine is not safe for everyone, and there is no way to predict who will be severely affected.
Vaccination and vaccine ingredients contradict many ethical and moral standards, cultural and lifestyle boundaries and religious beliefs.
If the government pass this legislation I fear for the future of my children's rights as they are slowly but surely being removed.
