Dear Victorian Members of Parliament,

I am writing in relation to the proposed no jab no play proposal for Victorian kinder and childcare.

As a loving father of two children, I am very alarmed that our medically informed position to not vaccinate our children is being undemocratically pushed aside.

As law makers, I ask you to consider what the Labour governments proposed laws are going to impose. It is one thing to force people to vaccinate their children (which goes against their human rights), but it is another to not provide any type of accountability for any adverse effects from vaccinations. Many other countries have a vaccine injury program and registers to manage damage they can cause.

There is no such thing in Australia.

If you would take some time to look into how other countries deal with vaccine injury. Here are just a few articles which explain the current vaccine injury court in the USA:

<http://healthimpactnews.com/2015/march-2015-settlements-in-vaccine-court-117-vaccine-injuries-and-deaths/>

In short, if we are forced to vaccinate our children (which is what the government is proposing) then who will pay for any injury caused by vaccines?

Please reconsider this policy. I appreciate your time and care for future generations of Australian children

Yours,

Nick Lovell
