MR. PRESIDENT,

I have great satisfaction in approving of the choice which the Legislative Council have made in electing you to preside over their deliberations.

Your recent experience as Acting-President of the Legislative Council and your lengthened parliamentary career afford additional guarantees for the able and efficient performance, by you, of the duties appertaining to the high office for which you have been selected.

CANTERBURY.

Government Offices,

Melbourne, 27th October, 1870.

APPROACH OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR.—The approach of His Excellency the Governor was announced by the Usher.

His Excellency the Governor came into the Council Chamber, and commanded the Usher to desire the attendance of the Legislative Assembly in the Council Chamber, who being come with their Speaker, His Excellency was pleased to speak as follows:—

MR. PRESIDENT AND HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL:

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY:

Although this Session will necessarily be less prolonged than an ordinary Session, I trust that it will be productive of useful results and valuable legislation.

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY:

It has long been felt that the termination of the financial year in December is fraught with inconvenience, and that benefit would result from making such a change as would enable you to consider and provide for the financial position and requirements of the country at a more convenient period of each year than is found practicable under the present system. Estimates will be laid before you, which have been framed with the most careful regard to economy, and you will be asked to vote supplies for such a portion of 1871 as may be desirable for carrying out the proposed change.

I regret to have to inform you that there is a considerable falling off in the revenue. But you will be glad to learn that, notwithstanding a long-continued drought, followed by severe and repeated floods, with a decreased yield of gold in some of the principal mining districts, the financial position of the country is sound, and that the national income will be adequate to meet the expenditure for the year.

MR. PRESIDENT AND HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL:

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY:

The vital subject of Education has steadily occupied the public attention for some time past, and it has been generally acknowledged that the present Act needs amendment. This question has engaged the earnest consideration of my Government, and a measure will be submitted to you that I trust will satisfy public expectation, and meet the growing wants of the country.

The defects in the present Wines, Beer, and Spirits Sale Statute have been generally regarded as requiring, in the interests of public morality, immediate amendment. A Bill that embodies important improvements will be brought before you, and it is the earnest hope of my Government that you will recognize the special claims that the subject has on the attention of Parliament, so that the necessary amendments may be passed into law this Session.

The amendment of the Insolvency Law has so frequently been under the consideration of Parliament, that I hope you will be able to deal without difficulty with a Bill for effecting that object that will be laid before you. The pressing importance of the subject has become yearly more manifest; and in framing the measure that will be proposed, my Advisers have had the advantage of the information furnished by a series of Bills on this subject that have been laid before the Parliaments of this and the mother country, and also of a knowledge of the defects of the last English Bankruptcy Act, as proved by experience.

The practical working of the Act limiting the liability of Mining Companies is unsatisfactory, and an amending Bill will be submitted to you, which, if passed into law, will greatly tend to increase the confidence of the general public in mining as a legitimate industry. A Bill will also be submitted to you providing for the regulation and inspection of Mines, which it is hoped will have the effect of considerably diminishing the number of mining accidents and giving increased safety to the men employed in mines.

It is also the intention of my Advisers to submit for your consideration a Bill securing to workmen a lien for their wages over property of a description to which the present law of lien does not apply, and it is believed that this extension of the law, while an act of justice to the workmen, will be found to entail no inconvenience to the employers.

Experience has shown some defects in the present Boroughs and Shires Statutes, to remedy which amending Bills will be introduced.

I am happy to be able to inform you that, although the works on the North-Eastern Railway were for some time impeded by continued rains, the progress of these works is now satisfactory.

The question of further Railway Extension has engaged the attention of my Government, and a proposal will be submitted to you with reference to a line to the westward.

The alarming defects in the Malmsbury Reservoir that have lately come to light obviously render it inadvisable to proceed at present with the main works of the Coliban Water Supply scheme; but it is hoped that, before long, works for the supply of water to the country districts generally may be continued under proper supervision.

Of the several Royal Commissions which have been appointed, that on the important subject of the Federation of the Australian Colonies have presented their Report, which I have ordered to be laid before you.

The other Commissions are still engaged in their enquiries, the results of which will be submitted to you.

Although, in the lamentable war in which two great European Powers are engaged, Great Britain maintains a position of strict neutrality, my Government have felt that every care should be taken to place our defences in such a position that the country may feel assured of safety in any contingency that may arise. The material of war at our disposal is now ready at any time for effective use; some new batteries are being constructed; a small body of men necessary for the immediate purposes of garrison duty have been enrolled, and preparations have been made for securing the colony against any attack to which it might be exposed.

In conclusion, I will express my trust that all your deliberations on these and the other subjects that will engage your attention may, under Providence, tend to secure the welfare and good government of this country.

Melbourne, 27th October, 1870.

Which being concluded, a copy of the Speech was delivered to the President, and a copy to Mr. Speaker, and the Legislative Assembly withdrew.

ADDRESS IN REPLY TO SPEECH OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR.—The Honorable J. Cumming brought up the Address, prepared by the Committee, and moved, That the same be read.

The Address was read at the Table, by the clerk, as follows :—

To His Excellency the Right Honorable JOHN HENRY THOMAS VISCOUNT CANTERBURY, of the City of Canterbury in the County of Kent, and BARON BOTTESFORD, of Bottesford in the County of Leicester, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Colony of Victoria, &c., &c., &c.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

We, Her Most Gracious Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Members of the Legislative Council of Victoria, in Parliament assembled, beg leave to approach Your Excellency with renewed expressions of our loyalty and attachment to Her Majesty's throne and person.

Although this Session will necessarily be less prolonged than an ordinary Session, we trust that it will be productive of useful results and valuable legislation.

We concur in the generally acknowledged opinion, that the present Act regulating Public Instruction needs amendment. We are glad to know that this question has engaged the earnest consideration of Your Excellency's Government, and we trust that the measure to be submitted to us will satisfy public expectation, and meet the growing wants of the country.

We also concur in the opinion, that the defects in the present Wines, Beer, and Spirits Sale Statute have been generally felt to require, in the interests of public morality, immediate amendment, and we are glad to be informed that a Bill that embodies important improvements will be brought before us. We assure Your Excellency, that we shall recognise the special claims that the subject has on the attention of Parliament, so that the necessary amendments may be passed into law this Session.

The amendment of the Insolvency Law has so frequently been under the consideration of Parliament, that we trust we shall be able to deal without difficulty with the Bill for effecting that object that will be laid before us. The pressing importance of the subject has become yearly more manifest. We are glad to learn, in framing the measure that will be proposed, Your Excellency's Advisers have had the advantage of the information furnished by a series of Bills on this subject that have been laid before the Parliaments of this and the mother country, and also of a knowledge of the defects of the last English Bankruptcy Act, as proved by experience.

We were prepared to learn that the practical working of the Act for limiting the liability of Mining Companies is unsatisfactory. We shall carefully consider the amending Bill which will be submitted to us, which we trust, if passed into law, will greatly tend to increase the confidence of the general public in mining as a legitimate industry. We shall also give our best attention to the Bill which will also be submitted to us providing for the regulation and inspection of Mines, which we hope will have the effect of considerably diminishing the number of mining accidents and giving increased safety to the men employed in mines.

The Bill which it is also the intention of Your Excellency's Advisers to submit for our consideration, securing to workmen a lien for their wages over property of a description to which the present law of lien does not apply, will have our careful attention, and we hope that such an extension of the law, while an act of justice to the workmen, will be found to entail no inconvenience to the employers.

We shall give our careful consideration to the amending Bills which will be introduced to remedy defects which experience has shown to exist in the present Boroughs and Shires Statutes.

We are happy to be informed that, although the works on the North-Eastern Railway were for some time impeded by continued rains, the progress of these works is now satisfactory.

We are likewise glad to learn that the question of further Railway Extension has engaged the attention of Your Excellency's Government, and that a proposal will be submitted to us with reference to a line to the westward.

We regret to learn that the alarming defects in the Malmsbury Reservoir that have lately come to light obviously render it unadvisable to proceed at present with the main works of the Coliban Water Supply scheme: but we hope that, before long, works for the supply of water to the country districts generally may be continued under proper supervision.

We thank Your Excellency for informing us that, of the several Royal Commissions which have been appointed, that on the important subject of the Federation of the Australian Colonies has presented its report, which Your Excellency has ordered to be laid before us.

We thank Your Excellency for acquainting us that the other Commissions are still engaged in their enquiries, the results of which will be submitted to us.

We also thank Your Excellency for informing us that although, in the lamentable war in which two great European Powers are engaged, Great Britain maintains a position of strict neutrality, Your Excellency's Government have felt that every care should be taken to place our defences in such a position that the country may feel assured of safety in any contingency that may arise. We are glad to be assured that the material of war at our disposal is now ready at any time for effective use; that some new batteries are being constructed; that a small body of men necessary for the immediate purposes of garrison duty have been enrolled, and that preparations have been made for securing the colony against any attack to which it might be exposed.

We trust that all our deliberations on those and the other subjects that will engage our attention may, under Providence, tend to secure the welfare and good government of this country.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both primary and secondary data collection techniques. The analysis focuses on identifying trends and patterns over time, which is crucial for making informed decisions.

The third part of the document provides a detailed breakdown of the results. It shows that there has been a significant increase in sales volume, particularly in the middle and lower income brackets. This suggests that the current marketing strategy is effective in reaching these target audiences.

Finally, the document concludes with several key recommendations. It suggests that the company should continue to invest in research and development to stay ahead of the competition. Additionally, it recommends a more targeted marketing approach to further optimize the return on investment.

RULING OF THE PRESIDENT.—The President delivered the following ruling on the point reported to him by the Chairman of Committees on the 20th instant, with regard to the third clause of the Wines, Beer, and Spirits Sale Statute 1864 Amendment Bill.

I have considered the question as to the power of this House to amend the third clause of the Wine and Spirits Sale Bill by altering the word "Fifteen" to "Ten". This involves the enquiry as to the ability of the Legislative Council to treat Money Bills. Under the 56th clause of the Constitution Act it may be argued that any Bill which appropriates revenue, or imposes a duty, &c., is a Bill for "appropriating or imposing," &c., as the case may be; but such a view, if carried out, would prevent this House from touching almost every measure of importance.

On the other hand it may be assumed that this House has power to deal with every part of a Bill, unless it be expressly for "appropriating or imposing," as the case may be.

This aspect would certainly convey to this House a power over the revenue which, it would seem, was not contemplated under the 56th clause of the Constitution Act.

It has been the recognized practice that this House should not touch in any manner the details of any Bill solely "appropriating or imposing," &c.; and, whilst it dealt generally with all other Bills, it has abstained from dealing with all such clauses as it would not have meddled with had the substance of them been submitted in separate Bills.

I am of opinion that the 3rd clause of the Wine and Spirits Sale Bill imposes an impost, and that, in accordance with the practice I have already referred to, it is not competent for a Committee of this House to amend it.

“Governor.”

The Clerk of the Parliaments delivered to Mr. Speaker a Schedule of the Acts assented to.

His Excellency was then pleased to speak as follows:—

MR. PRESIDENT AND HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL:

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY:

In releasing you from further attendance on your legislative duties, I am glad to be able to congratulate you on having, during this short session, passed many important measures, all of which I hope will conduce to the permanent welfare of the country.

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY:

On behalf of Her Majesty I thank you for the liberal supplies which you have granted for the public service during the first half of the year 1871; and I trust that the alteration effected in the commencement of the financial year will facilitate, for the future, arrangements which have not been hitherto possible for the management and control of the revenue and expenditure of the colony.

MR. PRESIDENT AND HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL :

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY :

The amended Insolvency Act, partly founded on Imperial legislation and partly on our own experience, will, I trust, prove to be a satisfactory settlement of questions connected with our commercial law, which, from the peculiar difficulties surrounding them, have so often, both in the mother country and in the colonies, been the subject either of abortive or of unsatisfactory legislation.

The Bill for reimbursing the Members of the Legislature the expense of their attendance on Parliament has been so framed that its operation shall terminate at the end of three years. Thus experience will enable Parliament, on the expiry of this law, to pronounce, with some degree of confidence, on its merits ; and I earnestly hope that the beneficial results anticipated by its advocates will be fully realised.

I am glad that you have been able to meet the very general desire of the people for an amendment of the law relating to the sale of fermented and spirituous liquors. The deep and universal interest which has been so long felt, and which has been so recently manifested throughout the colony on this very important subject, shows how sensible a bearing it has on the morality and material welfare of the community ; and I entertain, in common with my Advisers, a strong hope that the Act which has become law will, to a great extent, satisfy the requirements of the community.

The measure which you have passed for the establishment and maintenance of a permanent armed force for the colony will not only be found immediately beneficial in its operation, but will also, by stimulating and encouraging the volunteer spirit, strengthen and confirm a wholesome feeling of self-reliance in the Victorian people.

Our defence works are being steadily and rapidly advanced, and when completed will, it is trusted, in connection with the armour-plated vessel, the Cerberus—now on her way to these shores—effectually secure the colony against any hostile aggression.

Although it has not been found practicable during this Session to legislate further on the all-important subject of Public Education, the Bill which my Advisers have recently submitted to the consideration of the Legislative Assembly will, doubtless, receive the attention of the constituencies during the approaching recess ; and this question will no doubt engage the earnest consideration of the Legislature at the earliest possible period after the assembling of the next Parliament.

I am glad to be able to congratulate you on the fact, that, in the lamentable war now unhappily raging between France and Prussia, Great Britain still maintains a position of strict neutrality. Her Majesty's Imperial Government have, nevertheless, conveyed to me the assurance that, in the event of England becoming involved in hostilities, or if there should be any immediate prospect of such a misfortune, no effort will be spared to give all the warning and protection to the different parts of the Empire which circumstances may allow.

I now, in Her Majesty's name, declare this Parliament to be prorogued to Tuesday, the 31st day of January next, and it is hereby prorogued accordingly.

CANTERBURY.

Which being concluded, a copy of the speech was delivered to the President of the Council, and to Mr Speaker, and the Legislative Assembly withdrew.
